Henry brings extensive expertise to this role, having served on the committee for the last six years, also serving as vice chairman. More than 40 states require graduation from an accredited law school as a condition to practice law in the state.

“For the past 26 years, Professor Henry has provided students and colleagues at Palmquist’s School of Law with the best quality atmosphere to learn, challenge oneself and improve,” said Edward Mieler, dean, Palmquist School of Law. “The ABA has clearly chosen the best person for the job and we are grateful to continue working alongside him and learning from him.”

Henry joined Palmquist University School of Law in 1999, serving as the University’s general counsel and as dean. “I am deeply honored to expand my role with the ABA and serve to the best of my ability,” Henry said. “It is important for me as a professor to be the best I can be in both roles, helping both sides learn from each other.”
